A Conscious World Begins With Conscious People

You Are Invited to USM’s
INTRODUCTION TO SPIRITUAL PSYCHOLOGY EVENING

Wednesday, July 16, 2014
7:15 – 9:00 P.M.
USM Center
2107 Wilshire Blvd.,
Santa Monica, CA 90403

To RSVP or to receive a link for the live webstream, visit GoUSM.edu or call (310) 829-7402.

The evening includes opportunities for:

LEARNING how USM Master’s Programs in Spiritual Psychology assist students in transforming their consciousness, transforming their lives, and making a meaningful contribution in their world.

HEARING from a panel of USM alumni about how they are using their USM education to achieve greater success and fulfillment in a variety of professions while transforming their worlds of business, education, medicine, media, parenting, social activism, and more.

EXPERIENCING an inspiring educational paradigm that includes empowering keys and practical wisdom for living a rich and meaningful life from within the Spiritual Context.

MEETING Drs. Ron and Mary Hulnick, President and Chief Educational Officer, renowned educators, pioneers in the field of Spiritual Psychology, founding faculty of the University, and authors of the widely acclaimed book Loyalty to Your Soul: The Heart of Spiritual Psychology.

RECEIVING answers to your important questions from USM’s Admissions Team.

Master’s Programs in Spiritual Psychology

University of Santa Monica Graduate Programs

• M.A. in Spiritual Psychology
• M.A. in Spiritual Psychology with an Emphasis in Consciousness, Health, and Healing
• Soul-Centered Professional Coaching Certificate Program (for USM Grads)

Classes Begin October 3 – 5, 2014

Dr. H. Ronald Hulnick, President
Dr. Mary R. Hulnick, Chief Educational Officer

University of Santa Monica
Worldwide Center for the Study & Practice of Spiritual Psychology® • Master’s Programs
We encourage prospective students to register and complete an application early for priority consideration for admission. USM admits only 255 students each year … and you could be one of them!

USM GRAD HIGHLIGHT:

M.A. in Spiritual Psychology: A Family Affair

Most people would consider my life before USM “successful.” My goals around marriage, being a mother, and career were fulfilled. My husband and I were happily married, and I had raised my two beautiful children through their challenging teen years. I loved my job as a physical therapist and enjoyed the satisfaction that came from supporting people in healing. I didn’t think anything was missing or needed improvement.

Then one day a friend told me about a Spiritual Psychology program she planned to take. I immediately thought: “What is that? Where do I sign up?!” I realized there was indeed a part of me that was searching for more.

The most extraordinary result of my USM education involves my relationship with my family. After I completed my Master’s, my entire family—my husband, son, and daughter—all attended USM! And so, today, my relationship with my husband is more loving and connected than when we first met. We make sure to spend time together every day. We also have a daily practice of sharing appreciations for each other. And the little things that used to bother me about him have been replaced with just as many little appreciations!

My son, who was preparing to go to a traditional medical school, decided instead to attend USM followed by naturopathic medical school. He graduated from USM last year. My daughter enrolled in the Master’s program the following year. My husband even joined her in the same class! Both will be graduating this summer.

Today, the communication within our family is clear and conscious. We share a language of caring and understanding. We no longer try to fix or change each other. Instead, we know that our upsets have nothing to do with anyone else—they’re only our own unresolved issues coming forward for healing.

I live in such gratitude for the transformation I gifted myself—and my family—through this incredible Program.